My computer is still failing me. This is being produced on a big word processor. I'm not sure if I'll replace the C64 or get an Atari 520ST. I've trimmed the deadline back to 5 weeks to try and make up for lost time. If anybody needs to have it slowed back down, let me know.

(BTMF): College President Goes Berserk

A college recruiter had only one scholarship to give, but two possibilities. He selected a scientific researcher over a possible football hero. The berserk president destroyed many valuable paintings and some valuable furniture in his office. The recruiter was fired, but the president received a vote of commendation from the Board of Regents.

COA for Germany: Mark Frueh, 4320 Wallace St, St. Louis, MO 63116

PRESS: Vienna-Moscow: Fred my boy, you presume too much.

Germany to England: You wouldn't believe the difficult choice I had to make. Call me ugly nixon-like names but I'm your buddy-pal.

Germany to GM: The rock and the hard place are closing in on me.

Mark to Switz-boy: What's the matter? Don't you like me - or do we need another Carl-the-knife player?

Tur-Eng&Ger: Get 'em!

Tur-Ita: I hope you realize your next.

Tur-Fra: Thanks for the sympathy.

Tur-Aus&Rus: Thanks to your ill treatment of a novice Turk I'm a flame fan for life. Calgary 4 (games) Edmonton 3! Ha.Ha.Ha! I'm offering free legal services to the drug dealers in Edmonton to help your team's habits.

George-Bob: You dance on my grave? Heh-heh! Keep dreaming - maybe even the Canuck postal system will straighten itself out. But not before the Pope joins the Mafia.

Eng-Aus: You better try praying - seems like hoping does you no good either, since "Army Galicia isn't firmly entrenched in Rumania."

George-Bob: You know we may have one thing in common. It appears you and I are probably the furthest apart (in distance) Diplomacy players on the North American continent. Interesting thought - eh?

GM-George(in advance): All I can tell you is that I'll be trying to at least get game results out in a reasonable time. There still might be slight delays since Dip is not my top priority and I never know when I'll have to go out of town for a while on business.

George-GM: Well, you've past the worse GM'ing record in anyone of the games I'm in. Don Williams recently took 2 1/2 months to get JUST winter builds out, but you've topped him with taking 3 months! Please be more considerate of us in the future, because everyone I've talked to has really lost interest in this game. And once it is lost, it is very difficult to restore. Your idea of just sending out the game results sounds fine. Coming out on time is much more important to keep the interest of the game up, than having a full blown zine. And lastly, should you still find it difficult, I know of several GM's who would be willing to take this game over, whether they publish it in their zine or send it to me as a subzine and I publish it in Send Me A Postcard. It is very important to us, the players, that such a delay don't happen again, I'm sure you understand. Thank you for listening.

England-Turk: Some fine mess you've gotten yourself into.

England-Italy: You really ought to turn around. It will be just a matter of time before A/R come at you.

England-Igor: Fleet North Coast? Not very nice indeed! I guess you don't subscribe to "How To Win And Influence Friends And Neighbors".

England-Germany: Me believe a Nixon award winner? I'm trying!
